

I would urge the FCC to continue to support Fair Use under the copyright law by not allowing copy protected content to be broadcast over the television airwaves.

All of the Content companies fears were present with the advent of VCR's yet that technology turned out to be a boon for them. The advent of HDTV is no different.